

Willem Fargo

Data Science / User Experience - Cornell University

CONTACT

willemfargo@gmail.com
(603) 244-6581
Redwood, New York

OBJECTIVE

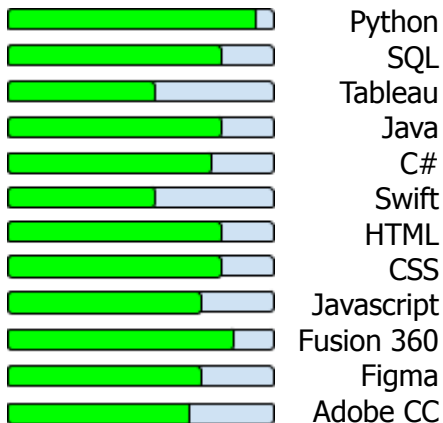

Seeking a position where I can deliver data-driven solutions, a user-centered mindset, and quality front-end interfaces in a high performance team environment.

EDUCATION

Cornell University

Bachelor's Degree in Information Science
May 2022

SKILLS

PERSONAL

Division 1 Football #Team
Theta Delta Chi #Fraternity
Computer Building #Hobby
Saltwater Fishing #Passion

RELEVANT COURSEWORK

INFO 2950: Data Science

- Fundamentals in Data Science
- NumPy, pandas, Matplotlib

ORIE 3120: Operations Research and Machine Learning

- SQL, GIS, VBA, Python
- Discrete event simulation, multiple linear regression, classification, logistic regression, clustering, time-series forecasting, A/B tests

INFO 3450: Human-Computer Interaction Design

- User-feedback guided improvements throughout prototype iteration process

INFO 4320: Rapid Prototyping and Physical Computing

- Microcontroller programming (Arduino w/ C++)
- Team project for Latte Machine

INFO 4240: Designing Technology for Social Impact

- Analysis of values embodied in technology design

WORK EXPERIENCE

Cambridge Semantics Inc.

Field Operations Intern June 2020 - August 2020

- Gained proficiency in Anzo/AnzoGraph. Proprietary software that onboards structured/unstructured data into enterprise-scale knowledge graphs
- Collaborated with pre-sales team to create Anzo deployment standardizing medical records across hospital groups on a patient journey timeline
- Contributed to intern project: "How does a byte of data move through an enterprise?" with data security and governance research

"Willem quickly accepts feedback.

Pivoted thinking and re-implemented solutions. Values high quality, very trusted to pursue quality"

- Neiloy Mukerjee, Senior Field Engineer

"Expertise with data modeling, analytic concepts, and proficiency with programming... combined with his inherent drive and creativity made him a valuable and high impact part of our team"

- Barbara Petrocelli, VP of Marketing

Uber/Grubhub

Rideshare/Delivery Driver January 2020 – Present

K&M Tire

Warehouse Worker June 2019 – January 2020

Whole Foods

Cashier April 2016 – April 2018